

Dr. Charanjit Kaur Swaran Singh is a Senior Lecturer and concurrently the Deputy Director III of Teaching and Learning at the UPSI Education Research Laboratory in Universiti Pendidikan Sultan Idris. She holds a PhD in TESL from Universiti Putra Malaysia (ranked 229) in the Malaysian Research Universities Top 1% in the World.

As a Deputy Director, Dr. Charanjit Kaur assists and works closely with the Director in proposing the current teaching and learning strategies for the lecturers.

As a researcher, Dr. Charanjit Kaur actively publishes in the areas of language assessment, higher education, TESL, higher order thinking skills and professional development. She enjoys exploring innovation in education. Her latest being a collaborative project with Sultan Azlan Shah Polytechnic, Behrang on developing a Prototype Speaking Game for Malaysian University English Test (MUET). She is also in the midst of developing an app for speaking for MUET students.

Her works are published in international and Malaysian journals including Pertanika, Malaysian Journal of Learning and Instruction, Canadian Center of Science and Education, Advanced Science Letters, International Journal of English Language and The Asian Journal of English Language and Pedagogy.

Her most recent research publications are in the Malaysian Journal of Learning and Instruction and Canadian Center of Science and Education.

Dr Charanjit Kaur is involved in various STEM related programmes including My Teachers Try Science, Celik Minda Sains and Mentor-Mentee. She has been appointed as one of the working committee members of STEM by the Minister of Higher Education in Malaysia.